M. E. FORD WOULD GO TO CONVENTION

IS ONLY DEMOCRATIC CANDIDATE FOR CONSTITUTIONAL DELEGATE

FRED HULL MENTIONED

Republicans Favor Him As Their Candidate—Manner of Election Is Uncertain

M. E. Ford of this city is a candidate for delegate from this senatorial district to the constitutional convention. He has visited several of the counties in this district and has received much encouragement. So far as is known now Mr. Ford is the only candidate in the race.

The name of Editor Fred Hull of the Tribune is being mentioned as the Republican candidate for delegate from this district to the constitutional convention. Several papers over the district have received with favor the mention of his name as a candidate. The Mound City News-Jeffersonian in this week's issue had the following:

"We have known Fred Hull the past twenty years, and feel that in qualifications and disposition he is eminently fitted for this place. For many years he has been the editor of the Maryville Tribune, one of the leading newspapers of Northwest Missouri. He is thoroughly in touch with the conditions and needs of rural Missouri, and is not afraid to stand solidly for what he thinks is right in the formation of the new constitution, a document that will mean much in the future development of our state."

The following is from the Worth County Times of Grant City in regard to Mr. Ford:

"M. E. Ford and George Pat Wright prominent Maryville attorneys, were in Grant City last week looking after legal matters. Mr. Ford was the Democratic candidate for state senator from this district and was defeated in the big landslide.

"Mr. Ford is being prominently mentioned by his many friends over the district as a likely candidate for delegate from this senatorial District to the coming Constitutional Convention. He is an excellent lawyer, is a straight forward conservative citizen and is in every way well qualified for this position. In this position he would undoubtedly make good.

"It is uncertain at this time whether the senatorial districts from which these delegates will be chosen will be the present districts or whether it will be those organized by Governor Hyde, the Attorney General and the Secretary of State. The redistricting by these officers was done at the close of the regular session of the legislature and is being attacked in the Supreme Court by Judge John I Williamson of Kansas City on the ground that a redistricting by state officials is unconstitutional.

"Our present district is composed of Atchinson, Nodaway, Worth and Gentry counties. That formed by the state officials includes the same four counties and in addition the counties of Holt, Andrew and DeKalb."

Mr. and Mrs. W. O. Garrett, accompanied by Mrs. Garrett's father, D. T. Foster, will leave tomorrow morning to attend the Kansas State Fair at Hutchinson. From there they will go to Pueblo to attend the Colorado State Fair and to visit Mrs. Garrett's brother, M. T. Foster, and family.

Arthur Wilfley of Denver, Colo., who has been spending a few days here at the home of his brother, George L. Wilfley, and family, left this morning for his home.

H. S. ORCHESTRA HAS 26 MEMBERS

PROSPECTS ARE FOR SCHOOLS' BEST ORGANIZATION.

WILL ENTER CONTESTS

More Experienced Members Form "Musician's Club" for Advancement of Instrumental Music.

The first rehearsal of the high school orchestra was held yesterday under the direction of Loren Schnabel. Eighteen old members reported, together with eight new candidates. Although the orchestra lost most of their bass players, Schnabel thinks the prospects point to the best orchestra the high school has ever had. He plans to invade St. Joseph this year in contest with other schools and carry off the honor of being the best orchestra in Northwest Missouri.

The old members of the orchestra are: Robert and Eugene Broyles, altoes; Forest Froman, Ed McPherron, Richard Baker, clarinets; Margaret Louise Hosmer, Bernice Holt, Treva Phipps, Volta Ringgold, Audrey Stiwalt, Ralph Eversole, Harold Holt, violins; Lucile Gaugh, William Gaugh, Marvin Westfall, cornets; Carlos Yehle, viola; Glen Trullinger, drummer, and Hettie Mae Woodward, piano.

The new members are Katherine Chandler, Edwina Forsyth, Gertrude Garrett and Norma Randall, violins; Orrin Miller, bassoon; Fred Street and Robert Westfall, baritones.

At a meeting of the students interested in instrumental music, a Musicians' Club was organized and the following officers were elected: William Gaugh, president; Margaret Louise Hosmer, vice president; Carlos Yehle, secretary and treasurer. The charter members at present include Grace Dietz, Carlos Yehle, Eugene Broyes, Robert Broyles, Ralph Eversole, Glen Trullinger, William Gaugh, Edward McPherron and Forest Froman.

The members of the club drew up by-laws and rules governing the club. The more important of these state that each member must serve faithfully and regularly in the orchestra and its activities at all times for a period of two years. Each member must study and practice extra time when necessary in order to execute or play first part in standard form; each member agrees to be honest, dependable and straightforward in any musical or business dealing with the club; and being a member of the orchestra for two years does not entitle anyone to a gold emblem, unless he has advanced to and served in the position of concert master during the majority of the two years service.

Many musical activities during the year have been planned by the organization. The orchestra will have a re-

NEW INSTRUCTOR IS A CONCERT PIANIST

THOMAS HOWARD ANNETT HAS BRILLIANT RECORD

WILL BE HERE MONDAY

Left Teaching at University of Oregon To Enter Overseas Service With 91st Division

Thomas Howard Annett, newly elected head of the piano department of the State Teachers College, will assume his duties Monday, according to an announcement today by Charles R. Gardner. He will be heard in faculty concert in the near future.

Mr. Annett is 29 years old, unmarried and a member of the Methodist Church. He served with the American Expeditionary Forces during the World War.

The new instructor has a record as a brilliant concert pianist. He is a graduate of the School of Music of Northwestern University, where he studied piano under Victor Garwood, who is also an instructor in the American Conservatory of Music at Evanston and is recognized as perhaps the country's leading teacher of piano pedagogy. He also studied piano under Arne Oldberg, and took postgraduate work with Percy Grainger, celebrated pianist.

He studied theory under P. C. Lutkin, dean of the Northwestern University School of Music, and L. N Dodge, and composition with W. A. White. He studied organ under noted instructors.

In 1912 and 1913, Mr. Annett taught privately at Evanston. In 1913-14 he was an instructor in the Northwestern University School of Music. From 1914 to 1916, he was director of the School of Epworth Seminary at Epworth, Iowa.

During the summers of 1914 and 1915, Mr. Annett was accompanist and soloist on the Chautauqua platform. He spent the summer of 1916 in graduate study with Grainger, and the next two years was instructor of piano at the University of Oregon. He left the university to enter service with the Ninety-First (Wild West) Division. Sinse the war he has been teaching privately in the Patterson Building at Omaha, Neb.

Mr. Annett has strong indorsements from those with whom he has been associated in study and teaching. A letter from Dean Lupkin is typical. It reads:

"I am glad to recommend Mr. Thomas Howard Annett as pianist and teacher of Piano. He is a graduate of our School of Music,, and has an excellent record in all his work. His graduate recital showed decided ability, his playing being marked by clearness and accuracy of technique, as well as by good musical conception. At the graduating concert he played Litolff's Scherzo with full orchestra, and achieved a marked success.

"He is also prepared to teach harmony and musical history, and he is moreover, a young man of high ideals the best of morals and good executive ability."

Mr. Annett will be head of the piano department. He will be assisted by Miss Geneva Wilfley and Miss Ruth Houchens.

In addition to their regular thirty minute private lessons, students of Mr. Annett will receive a one-hour class lesson without additional cost. The classes will be conducted along lines of the master class, the approved modern method.

Although the new instructor has not yet arrived here, thirty advanced students of piano have enrolled for work under him. Others who wish to make arrangements for advanced study are asked to see Mr. Gardner, head of the department of music, at the conservatory office during his conference hours, which is from 3 to 4 o'clock daily.

HEALTH OF PUPILS IS WELL GUARDED

STATE LAW IS STRICTLY OBSERVED HERE.

TEACHERS CO-OPERATE

Must Report All Contagious Diseases and Exclude Pupils Until Re-Admitted by Physician.

The health of pupils in the Maryville schools is exceptionally well guarded, according to Dr. L. E. Dean, city health physician, who commends the teachers for their strict observance of the state law that requires them to report any suspected cases to the health officer.

"Our teachers have been good about reporting sickness in their classes," he said this morning. "We had what was almost an epidemic of scarlet fever last year, but very few cases broke out in the schools, and it was checked by the cooperation of the teachers. Whenever any pupil is absent who has brothers or sisters in school, they always ask what is the matter, and if they have a contagious disease they send the other children of the family home and report the matter to me."

The state law requires that the condition of any pupil with a contagious disease shall be reported immediately to the health officer, and the pupil excluded from the school room until a certificate for re-admission is received. Its most important provisions are as follows:

What the Law Says.

Rule 3. Regulations for prevention and control of communicable disease. When any physician knows or has reason to believe that any person whom he has called to visit, or who visits or consults him, is infected with any of the diseases of rule 2 vis; anthrax, cerebrospinal meningitis, chickenpox, diptheria, epidemic or septic sore throat, glanders, influenza, leprosy, measles, mumps, opthalmia, neonatorium, pol poliomvelitis, rabies, scarlet fever, smallpox, tenatus, tachoma, tuberculosis, typhoid fever, typhus fever whooping cough, such physicians shall forth with give notice thereof to the health officer or to the local board of health of the town in which such person lives, or is residing without the corporate limits, report shall be made to the county commissioner of health of that county. Such reports shall include the full name, age occupation and address of the person affected, together with the name of the disease and date of onset.

Duty of Teachers

Rule 20. Duty of teachers. It shall be the duty of teachers and of principals of schools to note the condition or the symptoms of their pupil which are suggestive of the onset of a contagious disease, and this particularly when a disease of this kind is prevalent in the community. Among the symptoms which should excite suspicion are those of a common cold or a cough when measles or whooping cough is around; tonsillitis or sore throat, which may mean diphtheria or scarlet fever; or a rash at any time.

The teacher or principal shall immediately report to the health officer the condition of any pupil which is suggestive of a contagious or infectious disease and shall exclude such pupil from the school room until he has been seen by the health officer or a physician. The teacher shall furthermore exclude from the school room from houses in which there is, ore has been recently, o contagious or infectious disease until a certificate for readmission is received from the local health department or the health officer.

SEEK MEXICAN WHO CUT JESSE BEENE

VICTIM IS IN SERIOUS CONDITION IN HOSPITAL.

POSSES STILL SEARCHING

Stabbing Occurred Near Ravenwood After Quarrel Between Members of Construction Crew.

Sheriff Steve Roach, Deputy Leo Atherton and Deputy Gabe Purcell of Conception left Maryville this morning as soon as they heard of the fight and have been searching with volunteer posses all day for Fronze. Up to late this afternoon he had not been captured and no report had been received from the searching parties.

The Mexican was said to have been traced to a cornfield near Bedison. Reports from that point are conflicting, one saying the fugitive had been surrounded an danother stating that he had escaped and all traces lost. A report current late this afternoon said the cornfield was one on the William Kidd farm, but a telephone call proved the report unfounded. The John Kidd farm was also called, but the posses had not been seen there.

Jessie Beene, 19 years old, a worker on the construction crew of the Great Western Railroad, was seriously injured at 8:30 o'clock this morning, when he was stabbed just below the neck by Frank Flonze, a Mexican another member of the crew.

The gash cut by the Mexican's dirk knife severed Beene's external jugular vein and cut three or four smaller arteries.

He was immediately brought to St. Francis Hospital at Maryville by Dr. D. J. Hunterson of Ravenwood and two members of the crew. Beene is in a critical condition, suffering from the loss of so much blood, but attending physicians say that he will recover.

An altercation started between the two men this morning while the construction crew, composed of about thirty-three Americans and foreigners were at work laying ties on the Great Western track about two miles south of Ravenwood. According to a member of the crew, Beene and a companion were at work preparing to lay a tie and Flonze, with another Mexican, was at work immediately behind laying another. The ties had been scattered along in place, and it happened that the one Flonze and his helper drew was considerably larger than the one Beene and his companion had.

As it necessitated more digging and work to lay the larger tie, Flonze walked forward and started to pick up the small tie that the other two boys were preparing to lay. Beene informed the Mexican that the smaller tie belonged in the place where it had been laid, but Flonze continued to take the tie back where he was working. The conversation turned into a heated argument and oaths and names were exchanged.

As Flonze reached in his pocket for his knife, Beene, in self defense, hit the Mexican over the head with the shovel with which he was working. The enraged Mexican made a lunge for his assailant and struck him just below the neck, cutting an ugly wound with the large dirk knife.

As Beene was being cared for by his companions, Flonze made his getaway and up to the present time, has not been found. He is said to be about forty or forty-five years oid.

Feeling is running high against the Mexican among the American members of the crew, according to one of them who accompanied Beene to Maryville.

Not much was known about Beene, other than that he was a young man, a very likable sort of a fellow and easy to get along with. His home is said to be somewhere in Mississippi.

OFFICERS FIND "FRIENDS" WHO FURNISHED LIQUOR

New Names in Arbuckle Case Will Be Revealed Before Federal Grand Jury Tuesday.

San Francisco, Sept. 17.—The names of the mysterious friends of Fatty Arbuckle who furnished the liquor for the party which caused the death of Virginia Rappe are to be revealed before the federal grand jury Tuesday, Assistant Attorney General Robert McCormick announced today. The identity of the two men who actually brought the liquor to Arbuckle is known to the authorities, he declared.

San Francisco, Sept. 17.—A determined search is under way today for Dr. Arthur Beardslee, house physician at the St. Francis hotel and the first to attend Virginia Rappe, for whose alleged murder Fatty Arbuckle must stand trial. So far as known Dr. Beardslee has never made a statement. A chance remark by the defense caused the district attorney to institute a search.

WERE IN PATH OF SAN ANTONIO FLOOD

MISS ELEANOR SMITH TELLS OF TERRORS OF THE NIGHT

TOOK MOTHER IN ARMS

Daughters Carried Her Through Raging Waters to Higher Ground—Home Undamaged

A graphic description of the recent San Antonio flood has been received by Maryville friends of Miss Eleanor Smith, former director of the Maryville Conservatory of Music, Miss Smith was at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. Q. Smith, during the cloudburst and subsequent flood. Their home, completed only this spring, is on River Avenue, and was directly in the path of the rushing water. Her letter is as follows:

"We have come out of the horrible flood alive. After a lovely summer of unbroken fun, we have had to endure the most terrifying experience we have ever known. I won't go into detail for it would take forever. All day Friday we had a terrific rain with lots of lightning and thunder. At 10:15 that night the woman next door began screaming and crying for her husband. Frances and I went over to quiet her and found water up to the second step of her porch. Mr. Dickerson, her husband, had gone out at 9:30 to look around the rainy section. As it turned out, he could not get back until 2:30, so she was frantic.

"When we came home from her house five minutes after leaving our own we found water to our knees and rising so rapidly that we aroused the folks, dressed them and jammed a few things in my traveling bag Then Frances and I carried mamma in our arms to higher ground a block away. Some people took them (papa and mamma) up into Alamo Heights where they were safe for the night. Frances wanted to go back to the house for some of our things, but the men wouldn't let her, since the current was so strong she couldn't have gotten out again.

"With mamma in our arms we went through water to our hips, which made walking perilous in the darkness. The current was so strong we thought once we couldn't make it, but a flash of lightning showed up a man who took her from our arms and relieved us. She was not even wet. Poor papa had to wade it; he was too heavy to carry.

"We stood at the edge of the water thinking all the time our home would

WILL NOT ALLOW IRISH SEPARATION

NO PEACE UNLESS LOYALTY IS PLEDGED TO CROWN.

LLOYD GEORGE ANSWERS

Says Whole Fabric of Empire Is Woven About Allegiance to the King.

London, Sept. 17.—The British government stands pat on the condition that Ireland must pledge allegiance to the crown as an inherent part of the Empire before peace negotiations can be resumed. Premier Lloyd George this afternoon notified Eamon de Valera to this effect in replying to the Irish leaders conciliatory telegram yesterday.

To admit Ireland to conference without such a pledge, the premier pointed out, would mean official recognition of Ireland's severance from the king's domain and would leave her free to negotiate a union with foreign powers.

The British government is prepared, the premier stated, to discuss how association of Ireland with the British Empire can best be reconciled with Irish aspirations, but could not consent to abandonment, however informal, of the principle of allegiance to the king, upon which the whole fabric of the empire is based.

London, Sept. 17.—The new Irish crisis is destined to hang fire until Tuesday. No reply will be sent to De Valera's latest telegram to Lloyd George until after the Tuesday cabinet meeting, it was officially announced today.

LARGEST CIRCULATION IN NODAWAY COUNTY

RETURNS FROM FUNERAL OF FATHER AT WAUKON, IA.

Cornelius S. Stilwell Filled Many Public Offices and Was Prominent in Business Enterprises.

Charles E. Stilwell returned last evening from Waukon, Ia., where he was called by the death of his father, C. S. Stilwell, whose death occurred on Friday, September 9. Funeral services were held from the home at Waukon last Monday.

The following is in part from the Waukon Republican and Standard:

Cornelius S. Stilwell was born at Holland, Erie county, New York, June 26, 1838. His permanent residence at Waukon occurred on January 14, 1868, when he filled the position of deputy county treasurer under his brother, H. H. Stilwell. While serving as deputy treasurer, he devoted a part of the time to the study of law under the tutelage of Judge Granger, and was admitted to practice in the fall of 1870.

He has filled many offices in municipal and social affairs and business enterprises, having served as mayor and councilman for the city, justice of the peace for many years, secretary of the Waukon and Mississippi railroad company at its organization, always interested and always making for the good of the community and the good of the people.

To those who knew C. S. Stilwell in his active years, no comment on his character is necessary, and his active years have left their impress on the town and its people, and there has gone to his reward, a man, loved by his friends, wise in his counsels, deliberate and honest in his judgments, and esteemed by all who knew him.

CAN MAKE WINE AT HOME

Manufacture of 200 Gallons Allowed Under the Law

Washington, Sept. 17.—International revenue bureau officials frankly acknowledged yesterday that heads of families may, upon filing of notification with local revenue collectors, manufacture two hundred gallons of wine yearly for home use.

Treasury regulations making effective such provision of the law were issued by International Revenue Commissioner Roper with the approval of Secretary McAdoo in October, 1918, and because of the general lack of public knowledge respecting the provision, congress never has enacted legislation nullifying it, officials said.

The law applies specifically to exemption from payment of tax, officials pointed out, but in its application makes manufacture of wine at home possible, provided the manufacture is by the head of a family and the wine produced be not sold or otherwise removed from the place of manufacture.

Barnard Bulletin.

Thursday was a great day and should be declared a holiday on account of the number of birthday anniversaries of local celebreties it celebrates. Besides being the anniversary of the birth of James Fennimore Cooper, W. J. Campbell first saw the light just sixty years ago. C. E. Goff and Dan Hartley were born just forty-nine years ago Thursday. Claude Davidson is celebrating his forty-third birthday anniversary. Some of the men wanted to call out the band and have a big feed in order to properly observe the occasion.

The Barnard Lecture Course will begin Monday night, September 19, with one of the best programs Barnard has ever enjoyed. The Hammond Family, entertainers, will give the first program. The Lecture Course is backed this year by the following men: C. E. Goff, Elba Hagan, C. C. Phillips, J. E. Rush, Ray Davis, Ed Wohlford, W. F. Bolin, C. F. Ross, Wm. Blackerby, W. D. Jobe, and Earl McCleave. At a meeting of the guarantors Monday night the following officers were elected: John Rush, chairman; Elba Hagan, secretary-treasurer, and C. E. Goff, in charge of ticket sales.

In order that the most good could come from the programs this year, the committee has determined to make a radical reduction in the price of the season tickets, so that everyone may attend. The surplus funds after the talent has been paid and local expenses taken care of, will be given to the Barnard public school. This money will be used to the best advantage by the superintendent in promoting the interests of the school.

Ed Brown, the hardware merchant, was attacked by acute indigestion while visiting at Boone, Iowa, last week, where he and his wife had gone in their car. It sometimes pays to try to surprise your wife and sometimes it does not,, and Arch Stewart, an automobile dealer of Koetia, Iowa, is now fully convinced that as a rule "it doesn't." Mrs. Stewart had been a guest in the home of her parents here for nearly a month and the husband decided it would be clever to drive down in one of his big enclosed Oaklands and surprise her, so a week ago Wednesday he arrived in Hopkins only to find that Mrs. Stewart had taken the train for Keotia the day before and that her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Appleton, were in Maryville attending the centennial jubilee. He was the very picture of despair when he called at the Journal office that afternoon, saying if the weather was not so threatening he would start back on the two hundred and fifty mile drive that very night. However he waited until the next day, and the chances are he'll never again try to surprise his wife, especially if she happens to be 250 miles from home.

BEFORE AND AFTER CHILDBIRTH

Mrs. Williams Tells How Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Kept Her in Health

Overpeck, O.—"Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound helped me both before and after my baby was born. I suffered with backache, headache, was generally run down and weak. I saw Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound advertised in the newspapers and decided to try it. Now I feel fine, take care of my two boys and do my own work. I recommend your medicine to anyone who is ailing. You may publish my testimonial if you think it will help others."—Mrs. CARRIE WILLIAMS, Overpeck, Ohio.

For more than forty years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has been restoring women to health who suffered from irregularities, displacements, backaches, headaches, bearing-down pains, nervousness or "the blues." Today there is hardly a town or hamlet in the United States wherein some woman does not reside who has been made well by it. That is why Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is now recognized as the standard remedy for such ailments.

be ruined. We watched from a distance the people frantic in the house across the street from us, where the water was two feet deep in the house and damage up to $5,000. After the water receded at about 1:30, we waded back through water to our knees to find the water had covered the porch but hadn't crossed the door sill. Our driveway is gone, but we feel that we have been almost untouched since we have sen the misery of others. Our house and one other on this side of the street are the last ones undamaged in this end of River Avenue. A block below us people barely escaped with their lives and when they were able to get home found their homes ruined, some had houses washed across the streets, etc.

"In the Mexican district we found it most terrible, hardly signs of houses where there had been long rows of them, whole families wiped out while they were asleep. The downtown district is just a mess of oil, mud, smashed cars and wreckage. You know the river runs all through San Antonio.

"We have been without water, cars or lights. Today we have some of all three. We got 150 pounds of ice to melt to drink. We couldn't get our car out of the garage, so friends brought us ice and water; others loaned us a lamp, so we get along fine. The hopelessness in the homes is terrible the people looked dazed. You should see lovely Brackenridge Park. It is temporarily ruined but reconstruction work is going on so fast that many things will be adjusted before long."

Electric Theatre

Monday and Tuesday Alice Brady will be seen here in "Little Italy," her most recent Realart picture.

This play presents Miss Brady in another foreign role, and is the second in a series of three character roles which Miss Brady is doing for Realart. The first, "The Land of Hope," showed her as a Polish immigrant girl, while the present offering gives her the role of a fiery Italian girl who lives in an Italian colony near New York City.

"Little Italy" is the story of such a fued, imported from the old world and involving the heorine and the hero, who are members of rival families and, like Romeo and Juliet, really ought, in loyalty to their respective families, to hate each other. Only they don't.

Norman Kerry plays opposite Miss Brady, and a very colorful drama is woven about this pair of enemy-lovers. Others in the cast include George Fawcett, Gertrude Norman, Jack Ridgway, and scores of extras to give the atmosphere of an Italian colony.

George Terwilliger directed this offering which was especially written for Miss Brady by Frederic and Fannie Hatton and Peter Milne.

An unusual story presented in an unique manner is that portrayed in "The Silver Lining" a Metro release starring Jewel Carmen, supported by a notable cast of Broadway favorites.

Every incident shown in this enthralling picture, which will be shown Wednesday and Thursday is founded upon actual life and Roland West, who wrote and directed it, was a personal witness of many of the incidents portrayed.

In "The Silver Lining" the lovable adventuress is portrayed by Jewel Carmen, known to thousands of picture-goers through her appearance on the screen with Douglas Fairbanks, William Farnum and in many other pictures in which she starred.

Playing the part of the young author, the original of which is famous for his literary contributions, is Leslie Austen, at present leading man with Madge Kennedy in "Cornered." Previous to appearing in this show Mr. Austen had the leading male role with Ethel Barrymore in her successful stage play "Declasse."

"One Wild Week," Bebe Daniels' latest release, which will be seen here Friday, is a screen adaptation of a story written especially for Miss Daniels by Frances Harmer, who confesses that she is sixty-three years young. And it is said to be one of the "peppiest," liveliest comedies in which Miss Daniels has ever been seen.

"There's no such thing as old age unless you admit it," says Frances Harmer. "It's all in the viewpoint. I feel as young and happy and interested in life as I ever did, so there is no reason why I should not go on writing youthful comedies till I am ninety."

Eugene O'Brien as the "Magnet" a gentlemanly crook, in his latest Selznick Picture, "The Last Door," is the feature production scheduled for Saturday. It is described as a tale of modern adventure replete with mystery and romance and is said to provide the star with one of the best roles of his career.

"The Last Door" tells of the exploits of an adventurer who chooses a life of crime for the excitement of it. His crowning achievement is reached when he kidnaps a young social lion and assumes his place in society for the purpose of pillaging a home of wealth. It is then that he meets THE girl who in the course of a few hours makes him see the error of his way and begin life anew.

The story is written especially for Mr. O'Brien by Ralph Ince and W. B. Foster and directed by William P. S. Earle.

Empire Theatre

Can you fancy beautiful Gloria Swanson dressed in rags and tatters? Remember the many gorgeous gowns which have become so much a part of Miss Swanson as a result of her success in "Don't Change Your Husband," "Male and Female" and "Why Change Your Wife?"

And yet rage and tatters are Miss Swanson's portion through a large portion of the story of Cecil B. De Mille's Paramount picture "Something To Think About" which will be shown Monday and Tuesday.

"Something To Think About" represents a new departure in the type of role portrayed by Miss Swanson. As Ruth Anderson, the talented young actress had abundant opportunity to display her abilities. The role carries Miss Swanson through the entire emotional gamut and it is confidentially expected that this production will earn for her an additional host of admirers.

Although rags and tatters play their part in the action, Miss Swanson wears gowns of striking beauty. Several ultra-new costumes and evening gowns of unusual beauty were designed by Clair West under the supervision of Cecil B. De Mille and Miss Swanson wears them with her habitual grace and charm.

Miss Swanson plays the central feminine role. Other notable names in the cast include Elliott Dexter, Theodore Roberts, Monte Blue, Clair McDowell, little Mickey Moore, Theodore Kosloff, James Mason and Julia Faye.

The story of "The Mollycoddle" which will be the feature production Wednesday and Thursday is the third production Douglass Fairbanks has made for the United Artists Corporation, was suggested by Harold McGrath, one of the greatest of America's story writers. The character of the title role is that which conclusively proves that "blood" is thicker than water and that all the environment in the world will never change the real latent characteristics of heritation in anybody. The scenes are laid in both England and the United States.

On Friday and Saturday will be shown, "The Ghost in the Garret" a Paramount picture starring Dorothy Gish. Miss Gish takes the role of Delsie O'Dell,, a poor girl, who goes from her poverty-stricken home to visit with her rich aunt and uncle. The aunt receives her with little cordiality, but Billie Clark, her uncle's secretary takes an immediate fancy to her. Percy White, secretary to Delsie's aunt, is a crook and steals what he thinks is the real strand of $75,000 beads from his employer. Delsie is accused of the theft, but Billie takes the blame and is sent to jail. A series of interesting events follows to discover the real thief, who Delsie follows to a haunted house which is being used by a band of theives. She extricates herself from danger in the haunted house by pretending she is a crook, catches the real thief and exonerates Billie.

Hilltop Happenings

Everyone at the College has been talking about conflicts this week. The unsuspecting outsider, unacquainted with the college vernacular, might think there have been some mighty battles waged, to hear every student talking about "conflicts." The students use it, of course, to mean that two subjects on the program come at the same hour and that they have to change a class and take some other subject. But practically all of the students have ironed out all their difficulties and will start their classes in earnest next week.

"Three Hundred or Bust" seems to be the enrollment slogan for next week. Already 266 students have paid their incidental fees. This is exclusive of the vocational students and students enrolled solely in the Conservatory of Music. There are about a dozen vocational students already enrolled and others are expected later.

Just a glance at the comparative enrollment figures. A total of 251 students were enrolled during the fall quarter last year. Thirty-six of these enrolled after the first of October, making 215 "paid admissions" during September. The comparison speaks well for this year.

Speaking of enrollment, a noticeable fact is the increase in the number of men students. It is estimated that there are about three times as many as have been enrolled in previous fall and winter quarters. And according to one of the fair co-eds, "It isn't a half bad bunch either."

It has been a familiar scene this week to see a group of the "unacquainted stags" sitting together in the library and an eavesdropper might hear such remarks as, "Who's the little queen sitting at the corner table?" or "What's the girl's name over there with the blue waist and bobbed hair?" Which goes to prove that the girls aren't a half bad bunch either.

The seniors met yesterday and organized for the year and elected officers. Jay Puckett was elected president, Lucile Wright, vice president; Lucile Holmes, secretary-treasurer; Paul Pickens, sergeant-at-arms, and Helen Dean, Courier reporter. About twelve members were present, who will be candidates for B. S. and A. B. degrees at the end of this year. Miss Beatrix Winn is business adviser and Miss Mary MacLeod, social adviser.

The junior and sophomore classes met yesterday but no action on the election of officers was taken because of small attendance. Mr. Wilson is junior class adviser and Mr. Loomis sponsor of the sophomore class. Levita Epperson was elected Courier reported from the Sophomore class.

Indications point to a very successful year in the College Park Demonstration School. About 100 have already enrolled in this department, with thirty-four of them in the kindergarten classes. Lois Hankins is kindergarten teacher; Elvira Ward, first and second grades; Anna May Gillis, third and fourth grades, and Jeanie Blacklock and Chas. Elmore, instructors in the Junior High School, which includes the fifth, sixth, seventh and eighth grades.

The College Cafeteria, under the supervision of Miss Mary Wooldridge, opened for business with the students Wednesday. The cafeteria serves during the lunch hour and students can get a very good lunch at a very reasonable cost. Sandwiches, rolls, salads, drinks, etc., are sold at prices ranging from two to twelve cents. It will prove very convenient to the students, especially during the winter months and will probably be a popular place after the new students become acquainted with its menu and reasonable prices.

"Ned" George of Albany arrived in Maryville last night to look over the College with the view of enrolling here. George would prove a big asset to the football team as he is an experienced football man. He was the star fullback on the Albany high school team and has played center with the Palmer College of Albany. With his weight of 218 pounds in the Bearcats' lineup, he should cause considerable worry to opposition teams. Here's hoping that "Ned" is favorably impressed with our College and decides to enroll.

Football practice is progressing nicely. Every night sees a squad of from twenty-five to thirty hard working candidates for the team out practicing. The work so far this week has been confined to kicking, passing, wind exercises, etc. Scrimmage will probably be started next week. The first game with Kirksville is only two weeks off and everyone is anxious to see the Bearcats in action.

A blue light focused on a vein will cause the blood to concentrate, while red will make it flow quickly.

Sentenced to Jail for Calling a Recent Strike, He Orders More Miners Out.

Pittsburg, Kan., Sept. 17.—Alexander Howat, president of the Kansas district of the United Mine Workers, again has "bucked" the Kansas Industrial court. With 300 miners already on a strike under his orders, Howat announced he would call out an additional 300 Monday. A dispute over the wages of the mine blacksmiths is said to be the cause. Howat is under a jail term sentence for calling a recent strike in violation of the Kansas industrial act.

"No action will be taken on the matter until the brotherhood leaders meet in Chicago October 10 to canvass the returns."

HEAR WATER PLANS AT MASS MEETING

BURLINGTON JUNCTION WILL VOTE SEPTEMBER 27

ESTIMATED COST $39,000

System Will Afford Fire Protection and Make Possible a Sewer System

Burlington Junction's proposed water system was explained in detail last night at a mass meeting at Legion Hall, at which representatives of the E. T. Archer Engineering Co. of Kansas City answered the questions of voters. The election will be held September 27.

The proposed system it is estimated will cost $39,000, says the Burlington Junction Post. However, when the contract is awarded, the successful bidder may have his figure considerably below that amount. Bonds for that amount are to be issued, bearing interest at the rate of not more than 6 per cent per annum. The first year, there would be to pay a total of $3,128.44, this amount representing one-twentieth of the principal (as the bonds would run twenty years) and the interest. Based upon the city's present assessed valuation of $800,000.00 this would require a tax the first year of not quite four mills on the dollar—an amount which would not be noticed by anyone. And, further more, this amount will grow smaller each year.

Based on the 1920 census of 970 population for Burlington Junction, the cost, if each person would pay his proportionate amount, would be a few cents more than $40 per individual for the twenty years—or about $2 a year.

The system as outlined will afford fire protection to every residence and business structure within the corporate limits.

At the same time the survey for water was made, the engineers also surveyed for a sewer system, and made an estimate as to its cost. This was also placed at $39,000 although it may be constructed for considerably less than that, when let out on bid. Figured out on the square foot basis of assessment, this system would cost seventy-two hundredths of a cent per square foot of real estate.

Harold Ryan went to St. Joseph this morning to visit over the week end.

Mrs. Theodore Gray went to St. Joseph this morning to visit a sister and her son of Grant City, who are ill at the Noyes Hospital.
